

The Flashback

By

John D Clay

(c) John D Clay 2015
(c) Euroscript 2015

2 sergsion Road
Haywards Heath
w Sussex
RH16 1HS
07913 015 288
jdc13film@gmail.com

INT. LAB - DAY

SARAH, a scientist, mid 30s enters a lab chamber. Its a hub of scientific noise. She places a file on a desk on the right side of the room.

We see the name Louise Harper 2005 - 2012.

She neriously flicks through the pages.

SARAH

(V.O.)

She was just ... at the start. Life can a voyage of discovery. ot ended with this.

She stops at a page entitled Facts and Verdict. Louise died of an unknown virus with characteristics unfamiliar to the staff on duty, who were unable to save her life.

(V.O)

I continue her journey and want her to reach her proper home.

She walks over to a chart on the wall. and puts a marker next to the words: Report Reevaluated.

Time passes.

The chart is now covered in further mathematical formulee periodical elements and arrows charting a route.

Her phone virbrates in her pocket. We see Husband on the screen. She walks out of the chamber.

DISSOLVE TO:

INT. HOME - DAY

Sarah's husband NIGEL late 30s, is in the living room. Sarah enters he gives her a hug.

NIGEL

You've done your best, Sarah all the test negative?

SARAH

yes, all chemical, DNA transfusion tests from the samples negative.

(CONTINUED)

NIGEL

She wouldn't want you to give your life for her.

SARAH

I have a duty to her, Nigel.

Nigel glances at a clock on the wall.

NIGEL

You deserve more time thn to this virus, this question which doesn't provoke a answer.

I have a duty to her you know.

We see her wedding ring as Nigel produces a cup of tea in the background.

DISSOLVE TO:

INT. LAB - EVENING

Sarah stares at a double think chart.