My name is john De'Viana and as you'll understand from my domestic web page i am a primary-time author and a big believer in all of us there is a story.

I have lived maximum of my existence in London and think that is one of the maximum notable cities within the global.

My first fiction novel "philanthropist" it was a big wonder, if simplest i knew. i would one day love to share not just my tale but my early drafts of what philanthropist gave the impression of.

I was laughable but stored on developing. I can say that i am a completely sociable character, A accountable man or women that has advanced a notable experience of humour to life's little cheats and look forward enthusiastically "As a Student of Life" to the tough instances beforehand.

I like to meet new individuals who are happy to meet me because friendship is such an critical human fee, we regularly find out new things about each other that my skills continue to develop in so many methods. my modern intention i'm striving for is to finish my subsequent novel "Life Trader" sure i've had many bad reviews, like most of the people, like to listen from any of my readers that would really like to recognise more and discuss my adventure.

My Books:

"Philanthropist"- This novel turned into born out of trauma, love, ache, loss and deceit, which i had to bear over a few years. A fiction novel that stretches the mind to the opportunities of asking questions, of what's viable?

"Life Trader" - A sequel of the above. but, now not what you'll count on from the title. a challenging sequence of occasions that spread, come to be testing the electricity of affection, pain, deceit and loss. it's going to marvel you as a reader, to the closeness of fact and fiction. ( Coming Soon )
