Lorraine Brown

Writer

Lorraine's varied background spans fashion journalism and acting giving her a unique take on storytelling. She worked as a school secretary whilst developing her first novel and studying for a postgraduate diploma in psychodynamic counselling and currently delivers counselling sessions to students at the University of the Arts London alongside her writing. Her debut novel THE PARIS CONNECTION is a modern love story with themes of financial hardship, challenging family dynamics and not fitting in. She is working on the screenplay adaptation of THE PARIS CONNECTION and was recently commissioned by Reel One Entertainment to write her first feature film, a romance TV movie for the North American market currently entitled THE SEPTEMBER ISSUE.

Feature Films

THE SEPTEMBER ISSUE In post-production

Novels

THE PARIS CONNECTION Published February 2021 with Orion Fiction in the UK and August 2021 with Penguin Random House in the USA & Canada. The novel has also been translated into twelve languages worldwide including German, Dutch and Swedish

SORRY I MISSED YOU UK publication date 1st Sep 2022 - Orion Fiction

Competitions

2022 Winner – Launch Pad Prose Competition

2022 Nominee – Romantic Novelists' Association

Debut Romantic Novel of the Year

2018 Winner – Penguin Random House WriteNow, which aims to launch the careers of writers from backgrounds currently under-represented in the publishing industry. One of 11 mentees chosen from 1700 applicants

2016 Longlisted for the Bath Novel Award

Qualifications

2020 Postgraduate Diploma in Psychodynamic

Counselling

2012 Novel-Writing Module at Birkbeck, University of London – passed with distinction

2003 Postgraduate Diploma in Acting, East 15 Acting

School, London